Dear Customer,

We have received your inquiry for a sample copy of Telephone-Electronics-Newsline.

Telephone-Electronics-Newsline is a new publication and the only one of its kind. In order that each issue be most effective to its readers, a decent-size subscription list should be maintained. Therefore until now, there have been no issues distributed while a mailing list was in the process of being compiled. In other words, in the interest of all concerned, it wouldn't be worth it to publish a magazine every month for a few subscribers.

We apologize however, if you have ordered a sample copy a while ago and have not yet received one. The $25 charge is to cover the cost of publication and postage for a sample copy. Your quarter that was sent to us will be used for this purpose—you have not been ripped-off.

Please be advised that this was done in the interest of all concerned and was not intended to cause any inconvenience to those who have responded to the ad in Popular Electronics.

TEL will be distributed shortly (in December) and will consist of an average 24 to 32 pages of written material. Each issue will include methods of free telephone calling and the phone industries measures to counteract it, current news items, plans, illustrations, stories, history, comics, facts, games, code numbers, projects, and of course all of the other SECRETS OF YOUR TELEPHONE and other items you can't get your hands on.

If you wish to subscribe now and reserve the first copies off the press, return this letter and deduct $3 from the full year subscription rate of $3.00. TEL has no advertisers and therefore contains telephone-related information only.

Yours truly,

TELETRONICS COMPANY OF AMERICA

Dear Customer,

We are sending you this letter to acknowledge the receipt of your order. We wish to take this opportunity to inform you, however, that we are out of stock of the item which you have requested. This is due primarily to the fact that we have decided upon a number of revisions in our literature and have exhausted our unrevised stock. The next printing of the revised issues will be at the end of this month.

Please be assured that your order has been processed without complications, and we will rush your order at the soonest possible moment. We apologize for the delay.

Thank you for your time and patience.

Dear Customer,

We apologize for the very long delay regarding the order you placed some time ago. We were experiencing some major difficulties with a few machines. Consequently, we were put behind schedule about three months.

At the present time, we are revising the construction plans and the new catalog. In the process of revising this material, some of the orders received during the first part of this year were misplaced. Therefore, we are processing all orders received again and sending the material to you. If you have not received anything from us yet, please remain patient as we are processing your order for the first time.

We hope you were not inconvenienced by this delay.

If you should have any questions concerning your order, please feel free to contact me.

Thank you.

Yours truly,

John Reynolds,
