Bill Seeks Tough Penalties For Phone Call Chiselers

McClatchy Newspapers Service
SACRAMENTO—When Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone, the chances are he had no idea of the ingenious gimmicks people would dream up to avoid payment for the service.

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company contends the chiseling situation has become so pronounced it is time for the enactment of stiff penalties to discourage the malefactors.

So, to this end, Senator Joseph A. Rattigan of Sonoma County has introduced SB 1118.

The telephone company points out a substantial portion of its business is done on a credit basis.

Ingenious, Simple
"The schemes people think up are ingenious and varied," an explanation says. "Some are simple, such as charging a toll call to a non-existent credit card number or telephone number."

"Other devices are extremely complex, calling for electronically sophisticated equipment that bypasses the telephone company call recording apparatus."

"The popularity of credit plans with our mobile citizenry and automation in the handling of long distance calls are expected to continue to increase."

"It seems evident that the fraudulent obtaining of communication service, and its attendant loss and expense to communications carriers—which currently exceed $3 million a year nationally for credit card and third number fraud alone—should be held to a minimum."

One of the most commonly used schemes in the electronics line is the "box."

These are known in the trade as the "black box," the "blue box" and the "cheese box." The "black box" is connected to the called telephone. It causes a "no record" and "no charge" condition for any telephone call, local or long distance. It is considered very attractive to gamblers.

The "blue box" is used by the caller in conjunction with his telephone instrument to make calls anywhere in the United States. It can bypass telephone company billing equipment.

The "cheese box" is connected to two telephone lines at a point where they both terminate. It permits a person calling in on one line to talk with a person calling in on another line without anyone being present at the "cheese box" location. It is regarded as a favorite of horse race bookmakers.

The telephone company believes a criminal provision is needed in the law to get at the source of this fraud—the manufacture, possession, advertising and sale of the devices.

Some of these things are advertised for sale. You can buy one if you want to. But if the Rattigan-telephone company legislation is enacted, you had better get rid of it.

Lady Churchill Is Apartment Hunting

LONDON—UPI—Lady Churchill, widow of Sir Winston Churchill, is apartment hunting in London.

A friend of the family said Lady Churchill will sell her Georgian town house at No. 28 Hyde Park Gate because it is too big for her needs.

Sir Winston bought the house in 1945 for $84,000.

French Will Boycott SEATO Over Viet Nam

PARIS—UPI—France will boycott the ministerial meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization in London next month because of basic disagreements over policy in Viet Nam. The government announced the move last night.

There was no confirmation of speculation that France plans to quit the American-backed defense alliance.

Officials said Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville will not attend the London meeting. France, they said, will be represented there only by an observer, Achille Clarac, French ambassador to Bangkok and French representative on the SEATO permanent council.

Deplores Decision

LONDON—AP—The British Government said it deplores France's decision against participating in the annual meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization in London next month. A foreign office statement also expresses Britain's hope that the French move "does not imply any weakening of French support for SEATO in the longer term."

TV Producer's Wife Gets $750 A Week Alimony

NEW YORK—AP—Mrs. David Susskind, wife of the television producer, was awarded $750 a week alimony by Supreme Court Justice Arthur Markewich.

Mrs. Susskind was granted a separation based on abandonment last January. The couple was married in Boston in August, 1939.

The judge commended Susskind for his expressed willingness to support his older daughter, Pamela, 21, through her college education, and to provide in the same manner for the other children, Diana, 18, and Andrew, 12.

He directed Susskind to continue to pay maintenance charges on their cooperative Fifth Avenue apartment.

County Crews Will Operate 2 Sewer Districts

The county public works department is going to take over the maintenance of Sanitation District No. 1, which serves Tarpey Village east of Clovis Avenue, and Sanitation District No. 2, which serves the Fancher Creek Rancho subdivision.

The board of supervisors approved the action yesterday at the request of County Public Works Director Clinton D. Beery.

Beery said the present maintenance, now handled by contract, has caused "periodic dissatisfaction by the health and public works departments." This dissatisfaction is reinforced by complaints by adjoining property owners.

As an example Beery told the board that in District No. 1, sewage effluent ponds have almost reached capacity.

The board authorized negotiations with a nearby winery for a leasehold on five acres of the winery land. This will be used for two additional ponds for the Tarpey area.
